University

Statement of the Rector

Prof. Gianmaria Ajani
RECTOR OF UNIVERSITY OF TORINO

UniTo and the territory: a shared development

The development scenario of the city of Torino and its metropolitan area are strictly linked to the presence of University of Torino (UniTo). UniTo, with more than 100.000 people and the presence of more than 120 buildings, has influenced Torino to move over the traditional industrial fabric towards an innovative and cultural entrepreneurial context. A “University City” is where the students’ population is multicultural and where innovation and knowledge transfer are embedded in the cooperation between companies and research.

To fulfill our ambition, we need to be supported by politicians and stakeholders. A profound engagement of local development actors is fundamental to achieve international global standards in terms of quality of the services and dimension of the spaces. Even historical Italian universities were located in cities and not in isolated campuses. Nowadays, Universities need to be aware of their impacts over their territories and to be part of the metropolitan development plan and strategies.

It is true that the main goal of research and teaching is to promote and foster the wellbeing and the development of the entire humanity. It is true that the globalization has enriched the interchange of students, researchers and professors. Even though, it is also true that economic, social innovation and creativity are essential to guarantee the development of effective civil, social and political rights. These are local processes requiring institutions, such as universities, able to manage people and resources, and to create synergies between local actors.

Alongside, teaching and research activities, UniTo has publicly recognized its “third mission” of technology transfer and dissemination and communication of the research outcomes for the societal outreach. In addition, UniTo has recognized its social responsibility using the annual Sustainability report that collects and accounts the progress and performances in terms of economic, social and environmental sustainability. A new era for UniTo and its territory has come. It is a precise willingness of UniTo to cooperate and collaborate with our partners bonding their destiny and development strategies.

Three year of Sustainability Report @UniTo

Prof. Sergio Scamuzzi

VICE-RECTOR FOR PUBLIC RELATIONS - UNIVERSITY OF TORINO

UniTo Sustainability Report's experience started accounting the economic, social and environmental responsibilities of UniTo in 2013/2014. The Report usually contains a description of these multifaceted impacts and accounts the sustainability performance of the Athenaeum. We are now arrived to our third years of reporting and several conclusions must be taken.

The new era of Civic University sees government, companies, universities and local communities acting together for the economic and social innovation of the territory.

Our Report narrates how the human, intellectual, natural and relational capital are embedded in UniTo, a generalist University, founded in 1404, one of the most ancient and prestigious Italian Higher Education Institutions. It disentangles the complicated managerial governance that orients the knowledge production and the achievement of social responsibilities following a precise strategic plan.

Our Report benefits of to the precious contribution given by GRI G4¹ Framework and this represents a way to enhance the international visibility of our University, comparability and transparency.

This edition of the Report and its contents have been supervised by:

- Sergio Scamuzzi, the Vice-Rector for public relations;
- Laura Corazza, the editor in chief of the Report.

About this Report

With the purpose of enhancing the international visibility of our University, we are now approaching a cumulative document that narrates three years of sustainability reporting in UniTo for our international public.

The Report has been edited using the GRI (Global Reporting Initiative) guidelines version G4, Core "in accordance". In line with the intent of the G4 Guidelines, we have endeavoured to keep the report commentary focused on the issues that are most important to our stakeholders and we disclose at least one indicator for each aspect considered relevant. The reporting period under investigation includes the last three academic years (2015/2016-2014/2015-2013/2014). The data, herein published, are consistent with the Italian version where its reporting cycle coincides with the academic year and solar year (especially for economic and financial data updated at 31.12.2015).

The methodology of measurement applied to each specific indicator will be published properly in the same paragraph, omissions and indication will be published in note, as well.

The materiality matrix has been elaborated in the Italian version following the process established by GRI and composed by four steps: identification, prioritization, validation and review. The outcomes of the process of stakeholder engagement of UniTo has been used as source of information for the elaboration of the matrix.

Adequate comments and contextualization have been published with the aim of let the information more clear and understandable to our stakeholders. All the data reported have been collected with the precious contributions of the several Direction and Departments of UniTo.

2. Economic sustainability

Economic value generated and attracted

The reclassification of the prospect of UniTo Annual Report is influenced by a changing in accounting processes and regulations occurred in 2016.

Indirect economic distribution

The impact of UniTo on local economy

In order to estimate the indirect economic impact generated by the sole presence of UniTo on local environment, a study conducted in 2003 (and periodically updated) by the Regional Observatory of the University Regional and Agency for the Right to Education has been used as a source of information.

In this study, the average living allowance annual cost of a student has been accounted including: school equipment, sustenance costs (50% for local area students), accommodation and transportation, and commodities. All the prices are updated according to the consumer price index.

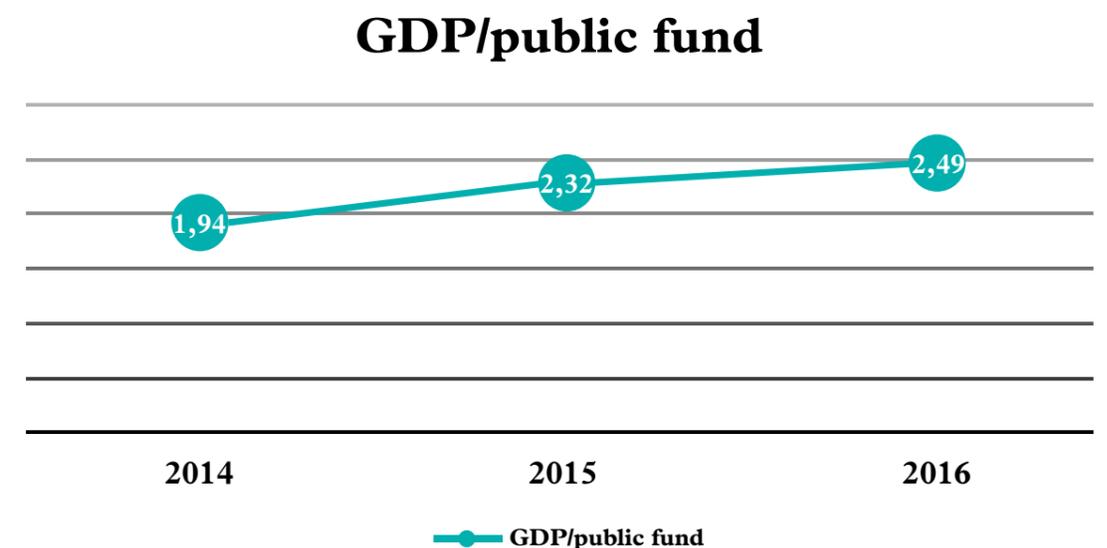

| Estimated consumption 2015/2016 (values in euro) | Costs per capita 2015/2016 | Number of students 2015/2016 | Overall expenditure |
|--|-------------------------------|---------------------------------|---------------------|

| Total GDP 2013/2014 | | | 792.309.466 |

Proportion of spending on local suppliers

The overall spending of UniTo can be reported broken by localization of our suppliers at local, regional and national level. The recent application of Green Public Procurement guidelines is shifting the local expenditure to other regions. This does not imply a negative result as it derives by a “greener” orientation determined by the group of UniTo Green Office.

UniTo Green Office

In order to reach the University target “Increasing the social, economic and environmental responsibility of the University of Torino” of the strategic GuideLines 2016-2020, UNITO has established, in its Division for Administration and Sustainability, UniToGO (<http://www.green.unito.it/?q=en>), the “office” for environmental sustainability. UniToGO is an interdisciplinary network composed by Professors, Researcher, technical and administrative staff and students with the purpose of analysing and promoting sustainable strategic plan for the University of Torino. UniToGO is the main promoter of the “Environmental Sustainability Action Plan” (ESAP), a strategic 5 years plan for the University of Torino.

UniToGo will lead, coordinate and promote every activities and initiatives about environmental sustainability within the University of Torino.

The Working Groups have the following aims and purposes:

-  Energy: improvement of energy efficiency and the reduction of Green House Gases (GHG) Emissions.
-  Green Public Procurement (GPP): improvement of the green purchasing within the University.
-  Mobility: enhancement of the sustainable mobility for technical staff, academic staff and students.
-  Waste: spreading over the whole university waste recycling and best practices for waste cycle management policy.

Food: enrichment of the food quality dealt out within the University

Environmental performance in UniTo

The information provided in the environmental performance part derives from an elaboration of internal data. The energy consumption and relative emissions have been calculated using those methodologies recognized at international level (IEA/OECD and GHG Protocol). The accounting of emissions follows the schemes GRI and CDP (Carbon Disclosure Project): Scope 1, those under control of the organization and Scope 2, linked to energy consumption. In different cases (i.e. consumption and water discharge) are appraised.
